

Mokena Sewer Encounters Opposition

Much opposition against the proposed $70,000 sanitary sewer system in Mokena has arisen during the past week. It is understood that a concerted action is being planned by property owners in the McIntosh subdivision and in other parts of the village to have the entire sewer plan knocked out until when the hearing is held in the Will County court.

The opponents of the sewer plan say the time is not ripe to install a strictly sanitary sewer and that the system as proposed will not be adequate, pointing out that the 8 inch tile proposed are not large enough to carry off the sewerage, especially when no storm water is run into the sewer. The small amount of water that will be run into the sewer tile, it is claimed, will not be sufficient to move the sewerage properly, thus causing stagnation and clogging of the sewer tile. In addition it is the opinion of many of the property owners that the proposed system is not adequate for the future needs of the community.

The property owners in the subdivision maintain that the sewer tile if laid on the vacant property will be of no use and after laying in the ground for a length of time without being used, will be worthless when they could be used.

Tinley Park has had the same sewer problem on their hands and their citizens committee has reported against the sewer plans as they were outlined and the sewer question has been shelved for the time being.

In order to get the sentiment of the property owners in Mokena for and against the sewer matter, the News-Bulletin prints a coupon at the foot of this article and asks the property owners to fill out same and bring or send it to the News-Bulletin office.

Soak them good.

Steffes Creditors Get 70 Percent

Shortly after Arthur Steffes was arrested last winter in connection with a raid on his farm by prohibition agents and the discovery of a big still, his creditors in Orland, Tinley Park and Marley got busy and swore out an attachment on the grain and hay on the farm. The attachment was issued in February.

The total amount of the claims came $337 for which a judgment was entered by Judge Henry Waje of Orland Park on March 5th of this year. George Yunker of Tinley Park purchased the hay and grain and on Monday morning of this week, Judge Waje paid off the creditors, 70 per cent of the amount of the claims being paid, with the exception of H. H. Sabin of Marley, whose claim was paid by Steffes sometime ago.

Tinley Bowlers Victorious In Final Game

A most interesting bowling match was held at Home Recreation May 7th between the first five high men of the Tinley Park Bowling League and five men of corresponding averages taken from the Homewood League. The feature of the evening were games of 251 and 217 bowled by Wm. Rick, who had considerable difficulty in the first game finding the spot for strikes, but after fixing his eyes on the head pin at the beginning of the second game it was sad news to the opposing team. Bob Rooker was also on his way to a 200 score in the final game but slipped on his last try. Captain Anderson and Millis were off as far as strikes were concerned but they counted steadily with spares totaling a good average for the evening. Slow motion Baldwin found a place in second honors altho it required several acrobatic stunts to accomplish this position, never the less, it is the pins that count. Praise in a large volume is due the Homewood Team for the Sportsmanship with which this match was conducted and altho defeated they offered congratulations and hoped for a return match at the close of next season.

It was just Tinley's night, that's all. Clyde Rice, newly elected President of the Tinley Park Bowling League was the official score keeper and the results were as follows:

|          | 1st | 2nd | 3rd |
|----------|-----|-----|-----|
| Anderson | 157 | 175 | 141 |
| Milles   | 142 | 165 | 139 |
| Rooker   | 142 | 177 | 191 |
| Baldwin  | 170 | 164 | 186 |
| Rick     | 154 | 251 | 217 |

Team average 857 pins.

|         |     |     |     |
|---------|-----|-----|-----|
| Thomas  | 121 | 163 | 160 |
| Gretz   | 189 | 149 | 156 |
| Keller  | 151 | 152 | 159 |
| Brenner | 150 | 151 | 143 |
| Woelke  | 165 | 163 | 152 |

Team average 773.6 pins

It is with pleasant memories that the Tinley Park Bowling League closes its season, extending their best wishes and appreciation to the Lions Club for their recent banquet, Mr. Hartman of Homewood Recreation for the courtesies extended to the Tinley team during the past season, and the loyal supporters of Tinley Park who so nobly struggled thru the winter months to be present at every game to encourage the losers and cheer the winners.

May the coming season find eight teams representing Tinley Park in this health giving indoor sport.

Tinley Legion Notes

All Legionnaires in the community are urged to attend the semi-monthly social meeting on Monday, May 19. First Divisions and Cook County Commander Joseph F. In conformity with the Post's plan of Community co-operations, a leading business man of the village will also be a guest of honor.

To these offices come ex-service men desiring compensations, hospitalizations, employment, legal assistance, etc. In employment alone the Chicago office has secured 184 permanent jobs, 346 temporary jobs and 6996 part time jobs since Oct. 1, 1924. Compensations claims aggregating $336,000 have been closed.

The public in this community can rest assured that the local Post will render a full accounting of any funds received on Poppy Day.

A typographical error in last week's Legion Notes stated that Mr. Chas. D. Miller will be in charge of the Poppy Day drive. Commander Hoar has appointed MRS. Chas. D. Miller who will be assisted by a number of other wives of Legionnaires.

A committee of the Post has visited the three cemeteries and located the graves of six men who fought for their country in its time of need. These graves will be decorated on Memorial Day with wreaths and flags furnished by the Post. The graves located are:

Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox show healthy gains as suburban towns, but a decided decrease as farming communities according to the census figures made public by Frank J. Gospodarc, director of the census for Will County. Frankfort as a village shows a gain of 98 persons over a total of 497 in 1920. In 1910 the population was 273 and in 1900 it was 250.

Mokena is showing a healthy increase in population, having gained 87 persons since the 1920 census. The population today is 562. The population in 1920 was 475; in 1910 it was 359; in 1900 only 393.

Frankfort township shows a loss of six persons. The total now is 715. The population in 1920 was 721; in 1910 the figures were much larger, when 977 persons lived in the territory. In 1900 the total was 919.

In New Lenox the census figures include village of New Lenox and the township of New Lenox and are as follows: 1930, 1488; 1920, 1213; 1910, 1183; 1900, 1204.

The census reveals a decided number of farm decreases since 1920, due to sub divisions and the movement toward the city. The following figures are self explanatory:

|              | 1930 | 1920 |
|--------------|------|------|
| Frankfort    | 70   | 93   |
| Green Garden | 142  | 154  |
| Homer        | 134  | 178  |
| New Lenox    | 140  | 156  |

"In plain blunt words, Bill, your pipe smells like a 'Hot-Box'!"

ONLY an old and trusted friend would venture to speak so frankly.

A new pipe, or an old one carefully broken in with Sir Walter Raleigh's favorite smoking mixture, changes everything. And why shouldn't it? Sir Walter is milder and more fragrant. And it has the body and flavor found only in the finest of Burley, skillfully seasoned and blended. What more could we offer any pipe smoker? What more could he ask?

STORY FROM THE START

Capt. Lion Fellowes' American merchant ship is sunk by a British frigate off Portugal in the War of 1812. The crew surrenders, but Fellowes reaches shore exhausted. His life is saved by an English-speaking girl, who conceals her identity. She is about to set out for Lisbon. Fellowes goes to Lisbon where he meets an acquaintance, Capt. Chater of the American ship True Bounty, who offers him a berth as a mate, but knowing Chater is disloyal in trading with the enemy, he refuses. He meets the girl who saved his life, Cara Inglepin, daughter of the owner of True Bounty. She is bound for home and induces Fellowes to sail as mate. He is in love with Cara. The vessel is stopped by the British frigate, Badger, Captain Collishawe. Despite his claims to American citizenship, Fellowes is taken aboard the Badger as a "pressed" man. Maddened at what he believes is Cara's and Chater's treachery he strikes Collishawe, who orders him a hundred lashes with the "cat." Fellowes' hatred of the three becomes an obsession. Off New York Fellowes escapes from the Badger. He seizes a plot in a meeting to be held at Chater's home.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Saul Chater!" Mrs. Rhodes' lips clamped in a tight line. "Ye mean that skunk—"

"That's what we want to find out. I've sent Joe Doak and Paris Eaches to rouse Sophy and the Fencibles. We'll catch the English, and overhaul the farm." He hesitated, strangely reluctant to name Cara Inglepin, despising himself for his embarrassment. "Chater has visitors—"

"Mr. Benjamin Inglepin from New York, 'n' his daughter," corroborated Mrs. Rhodes, her jaw still very square. "An arant Federalist knave, by all accounts."

"Are the Inglepins the only strangers at Chater's?"

Jeff Riddle answered him.

"Right now, they be; but Saul's had a passel o' compny sence he come home from Portgual. Mr. Inglepin's be'n out afore, and a dozen fellers off 'n' on—most o' 'em from New England, by the way they talked."

Fellowes experienced a rush of savage exultation. "There's a mess of treason brewing on Sampawams creek, but we'll upset the pot," he said. "And that reminds me: Jeff, will you wake the Fencibles, who live on Main street?"

"I'll whip 'em out o' bed, if I got to," Riddle assented. "Mrandy, I want to borrow that air musket o' yer's. I'm goin' to have a shot at the feller poked his pistol in my stum-mick."

"I'll b'lieve it when some one else tells me," she retorted as he departed. "One o' squire's men 'd do my powder 'n' lead more justice." She leveled an admonitory forefinger at Tom. "Now, that hairy, leetle feller, he looks like he'd be better at shootin' than hackin'."

"Axin' yer pardon, ma'am," replied Tom, shuffling his brown feet. "but I'm no hand with a gun. If ye had a cut-lass—or a boardin' ax—"

"That's a wood ax ye're welcome to. What about the nigger, squer? He don't look decent in that naked state. He's welcome to the gun, but I can't come by a shirt, let alone a coat, to cover him."

"Cuffee can get along as he is," rejoined Fellowes. "But he'll be grateful for a musket, Mrs. Rhodes."

The negro favored her with a view of his entire mouthful of filed teeth.

"Cuffee plenty lub fo' shoot," he said.

"Heavens, what gibberish," she protested. "And is he a cannibal with all them wicked teeth?"

"No more'n ye be, yerself," growled Tom before Fellowes could answer.

"H'tey—'titey!" snapped the widow. "Keep a civil tongue in yer head, my man."

"I ain't yer man," roared Tom. "And I'll thank ye to mind as how Cuffee's my nigger."

"A pressed man own a nigger?" "The negro would serve with his master, you see," Fellowes intervened.

"I don't see," scoffed Mrs. Rhodes. "If that makes sense, I'm a fool."

"Ye said it yerself," jeered Tom. The widow grabbed a pewter jack from the table.

"And if ye think to talk back to me, ye leetle, hairy vermin, I'll try the weight o' yer skull," she threatened.

But Cuffee thrust his enormous body between them.

"Cuffee him b'long fo' Tom," he said in his curiously soft, soothing voice. "Tom him b'long fo' maa's'r Fellowes. Cuffee plenty lub him bofe. Yo' don hit Tom."

She regarded the negro with unwilling respect.

"Why, ye talk like a Christian—which is more'n that Tom does."

"Tom him no lub woman," explained Cuffee, grinning. "Oh, my aunt, him plenty 'traid fo' woman."

"Land's sakes, so that's the kind o' critter he is!" Mrs. Rhodes smiled upon the pair of them. "Vaal, it's time he learned what a respectable woman's like. Poor feller! That's naught nearer to a baby than a sailor in this world." Tom started to retreat toward the door. "Tom! You, Tom!"

"Yes, ma'am?" he answered meekly. "What's yer name?"

"Tom Grogan, ma'am—o' Phillydel-phy, P. A."

"Set yerself down, Tom. I wouldn't want for any man to think I meant him harm. Will ye have a drop o' drink jest to wet yer tongue?" Tom brightened perceptibly.

"Why, I'd take it kindly, ma'am."

"Not too much," cautioned Fellowes, and turned to greet Nimrod Sophy, who hurried in at the head of four or five men, all carrying rifles, muskets or fowling pieces of various dates and patterns. Sophy was a man of about forty, thin as a lath, with a long, mournful face that reminded Fellowes of a horse. Around his waist was belted a dragoon saber of prodigious size.

"This is an unforeseen pleasure, Lion," he proclaimed ponderously. "I very nearly fell out my window when Paris told me you were home. An extraordinary deliverance! A veritable Odyssey, I doubt not. You'll have much to tell us, yes, yes! But we have not been idle at home. And you'll find the Manor all in order. I've had some trouble with Chater, who gave me to understand 'twas your pleasure he should be permitted to buy the 'swamp tract' east of the creek; but I trust I've not merited rebuke in resisting his persuasions."

"Who is the Guiding-Hand in the Plot?" Flared Fellowes.

"Chater lied to you," rasped Fellowes. "He and—an accomplice of his betrayed me to Collishawe—to silence me lest I reveal their intercourse with the enemy. Collishawe, as Eaches must have told you—"

"Ah, but my dear Lion, how can you prove this British officer comes with the intention of proposing a commerce in treason?"

"That's why I had your Fencibles roused. We must catch the scoundrels in the act."

"Scoundrels?" Sophy was distressed. "A libelous phrase, my friend. And it occurs to me that Chater has visiting him Mr. Benjamin Inglepin, a reputable merchant, of New York city, as well as Mr. Inglepin's daughter—"

"Who is the guiding hand in the plot?" flared Fellowes.

"But, Lion! Mr. Inglepin is a reputable merchant!"

"Say a wealthy merchant, and I'll agree with you. Grown wealthy on trading with the enemy. A corrupt, conspiring Federalist, bent on restoring allegiance to the Crown."

Sophy was bewildered.

"It passes comprehension," he said. "And as your attorney, Lion, I must counsel you to have your proofs in order before you undertake to prosecute your charges."

"With your Fencibles to aid me, I'll have proof enough to hang the lot of them."

"What? A woman?"

Mrs. Rhodes, who had stood by listening, arms akimbo, rapped sternly: "And why not, if she deserves it?"

"Why not?" echoed Fellowes.

Sophy wagged his head forebodingly. "I like it not, Lion, and that's the truth. As your attorney—"

"Tis not as my attorney, but as captain of the Fencibles I've called on

you. Will you aid us to capture these British invaders?"

"Ah, that's a different matter." The lawyer-militiaman plucked up his spirits. "There, to be sure, we have the law on our side. Invaders in arms may be resisted, nay, they should be resisted. But laying an information alleging the crime of high treason is a matter requiring protracted consideration. I should err in my responsibility did I not urge reflection upon the possible consequences."

"I care nothing for the consequences," Fellowes said coldly. "To protect the Inglepins and Chater, Collishawe pressed me off the True Bounty, and gave me a hundred lashes of the cat. Did you ever see a man who had taken a hundred lashes on his back? Do you understand what it means to be compelled to serve against your country?"

"Your resentment is justifiable," deplored the lawyer, "yet suffer me to indicate that justice is seldom realized through passion."

Eaches, who hovered by the window, made an awkward attempt to come to attention.

"Axin' yer pardon, Cap'n," he reported, "the powder's served out, and the compny be acallin' for ye 'n' squire."

"And 'bout time some one took heed to actin' 'stead o' argyin'!" announced Mrs. Rhodes. "Here!" She opened a cupboard, and drew from it a musket, powder horn and shot pouch, which she extended to Cuffee. "Tom, jest stir yerself out to the woodshed, and ye'll find a hefty ax I honed, myself. Squire, that's a pistol in the drawer o' that table. Nimrod, git out o' here, and muster yer Fencibles or I'll go do it for ye."

"I trust I do not need to be reminded of my duty, Mirandy Rhodes," the lawyer returned with dignity. "Corporal Eaches, lead out your squad. After you, Lion!"

In the hall they encountered Tom, fingering the edge of a shiny, broad-bladed wood ax.

"Run yer thumb over that," he invited them admiringly. "The Badger's gunner couldn't have it no sharper. That's a woman for ye! Cripes, she'd fight a seventy-four 'soon as look at it."

Fellowes reflected uneasily that, at least, she'd probably fight more handily than his prolix attorney. But a clamor of voices distracted his attention. "Hl, whar's the squire?" "Down with the Bloodybacks!" "Come on, Nimrod, we want to fight!" "Three cheers for the Fencibles!" "We'll show them Englishmen a few tricks!" "Hey, Sophy! Hear yer bloodhounds barkin'?"

Not so well disciplined, the Fencibles, who, after all, were only everyday farmers and fishermen. Thank God for the misty darkness!

The men were armed as nondescriptly as the squad that had attended Eaches—half of them carried old Brown Bess firelocks, with bayonets; the remainder sported hunting rifles, tradeguns and fowling pieces. Lads barely in their teens shambled beside grandfathers wearing their white hair long in the fashion of the last century. But all, regardless of age or equipment, were hysterically aggressive, and they broke ranks with a whoop to receive Fellowes.

He quieted the demonstration with difficulty.

"The British will hear you, friends. Our one hope is to surprise them. Fall them in, Nimrod."

Sophy drew his saber with a clang. "Fall in, men! Fall in! Sergeant Peirt! Where's Sergeant Peirt?"

One of the ancients of the company stepped clear of the confusion and saluted with shaky smartness.

"Muster the men, sergeant. Column of fours."

"And douse those torches," added Fellowes.

Prompt abedience plunged the group in darkness, and the confusion increased until the Widow Rhodes appeared with a lighted stable-lantern in either hand.

"I never see sech clumsy oafs," she snapped. "For land's sake, git agoin', Abner Peirt. I've heard yer tell 'bout Saratoga for thirty years. S'pose ye show us a bit o' sojerin' for a change."

"We will," Mrandy, we will," quavered Peirt. "The Fencibles ain't Continentals, but they know their drill. Fall in, men! Slope arms! Right, dress!" His old voice took on a ghostly ring of virility. "By fours—column right—for'ard!"

King Might Have Had "To Tell It to Judge"

An amusing story about King Edward is told by Princess Daisy of Pless in her memoirs, says the Kansas City Times. One summer at Cowes, Edward went ashore from the royal yacht to play a little bridge with the duchess of Manchester at her residence, Egypt house. He didn't want any fuss, so was accompanied by only one equerry. Reaching shore there hired a cab to drive to Egypt house. The driver did not know where it was and took them to the wrong place.

It was quite dark and the equerry got out and rang. A window upstairs was opened and two outraged old ladies peered out, demanding what all the noise was about. The king shouted up that he had come to play bridge with the duchess of Manchester. The angry ladies declared that they knew nothing about either bridge or duchess; that he was drunk and if he did not go away at once they would telephone for the police!

Pleasure in Achievement

Our times of greatest pleasure are when we have won some high peak of difficulty, trodden under foot some evil, and felt day by day so sure a growth of moral strength within us that we cannot conceive of an end of growth.—Stopford Brooke.

True Greatness

Greatness lies not in being strong alone but in the using of your strength.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Moslem Faith Kept by Tatars in Lithuania

More than 500 years ago when Vytautas the Great was ruling over the grand principality of Lithuania, then at the height of its power and prosperity, he brought back as prisoners from one of his campaigns in the southeast several hundred Tatars. They remained in Lithuania intermarried with the native women, but did not give up their Moslem faith and customs.

United with the remnants of the Tatar troops lent by the grand khan to the Lithuanian grand duke, most of whom fell in the wars with the Teutonic knights, these faithful followers of Mahomet planted the banner of the crescent in these northern regions and their descendants have kept it flying right down to today.

In connection with the solemn celebration this year in all Lithuania of the 500th anniversary of the death of Vytautas the Great, the League of Lithuanian Tatars recently held a meeting in Kovno (Kaunas) and decided to build a central mosque in the capital city.

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs; ingredients that soon start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, bad breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. #### Easter's Meaning

Easter was meaning very little else to little Junior except Easter rabbits and colored Easter eggs.

"Now, why do we celebrate Easter?" the Sunday school teacher asked the class of tots.

"I don't know but it might be all the little baby chicks' birthday," was an unexpected reply from Junior.

To make two—yea, two hundred blades of grass grow where one grew before, raise a garden.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat!"—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system. At the same time the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

Plan $500,000 Paving Job In Markham

After a public hearing Thursday, May 8 on the paving of 163rd st., Ashland and other streets, the board of local improvements referred the project—which will cost about $500,000—to the committee on streets and alleys.

About twenty persons, property owners residing outside the village, filed protests against the improvement. The syndicate, which is said to own the majority of the 1900 lots involved, is asking for it.

Attorney John Charles Lewie, village attorney, explained that the improvement hinged on the building of the proposed airport in the village. According to him, the negotiations with the aviation companies, which have been under way for some time, are about closed. Should the airport fail to locate here, the paving will not be let. At any rate letting of contracts would not take place until next year and the first payment on the assessment would not be made before July 1, 1932. The syndicate he said, is the largest real estate operator in the county and has about $2,000,000 invested here.

"Doc" Alm, representing the syndicate, told the audience that it is hoped to have the air port in shape for the ladies international air races this year. The airport involves the sale of 900 acres of land and $7,000,000 in construction work. He said that the Central Manufacturing district is now considering the erection of a $680,000 mooring mast for Zeppelins; this mast may be located here.

Mr. Alm further explained the difficulty heretofore has been that each transport company could not own its own land; now arrangements are being made with five companies to come in on the site.

"No piece of property in the county has been so neglected," he stated. "The Illinois Central will build a $150,000 depot at 163rd st. when the announcement is made that the deal has gone through."

"There is no real air terminal now in the United States. Only one—in Pontiac, Michigan—has a Department of Commerce rating. This location is passed by 90 per cent of the companies now operating out of Chicago; it is out of the fog and smoke belt."

If the paving job is carried out, it will involve only north and south streets and 163rd and 167th sts. Other streets will be paved at some future time.

The board of trustees in their regular meeting passed a resolution appointing the following members of committees:

Finance—Holt, Waterman, Arcucci.
Streets and alleys—Lystra, Arcucci, Rockrohr.
Police and Fire—Arcucci, Lystra and Holt.
Ordinance—Grill, Holt, Lystra.
Water—Rockrohr, Holt, Waterman.
Public Service—Waterman, Grill, Rockrohr.
Sewer and Water—Waterman, Arcucci and Rockrohr.

One Of Midlothian's Finest Homes

(Editor's note—The following article appeared in the Chicago Sunday Tribune, May 11. It is a tribute to the splendid type of homes that are being built near the Country Club.)

Some one has suggested that it would not be amiss to build our homes the way Swift's Lilliputians did—start with the roof and work downwards, since roofs can have a positive way of dominating the architectural scheme.

For example, the roof of the house shown today is a roof which suggests English cottages and English hillside and is a roof, moreover, which adds immeasurably to the grace and distinction of the entire home.

Located on the top of a small hill, the house faces west, the main rooms overlooking the grounds of the Midlothian Country Club, while the east rooms command a view over a valley, with Blue Island in the distance. Owner is Ralph Woerhede; architect, William T. Braun, 58 East Washington street, Chicago.

These are days when the urge for a home and grounds and garden of one's own is deep and moving in the hearts of many who are seriously entering the home owning for the first time. While such a house as this, with five rooms on the first floor and three on the second floor, is larger than the average, a house does not depend primarily for its appeal on its general cubic contents.

Many a man has seen "just the house" he wants for his own, and has been moved to home ownership because of his strong liking for some individual dwelling. Even tho it may have more rooms than he needs and stands on a larger lot than he cares to invest in, plans can be drawn by an architect for a similar though smaller dwelling.

Materials are combined in the exterior of the house to striking effect. The garage section and entrance gable are of limestone. The massive chimney, a feature of the east elevation, is also of stone, while the rest of the walls, are of common brick laid skintled with buff colored joints. The stucco used on the dining room and library gables is a shade to blend with the stone and common brick. The roof is covered with slate of purple, green and antique shades laid thatched style.

The plan is arranged to secure a maximum number of rooms for a house of this cubic content. As you leave the garage in the basement you enter the stair hall. By the side of this stair and under the library is a billiard room large enough for a billiard table. Hot water heat is employed with an oil burner.

The living room is of the studio type with two trusses and exposed purlins. The walls and ceiling are finished in a rough sand finish, tinted plaster. The dining room is paneled and paneled and the pantry has a breakfast nook. The kitchen has all the convenient equipment necessary to lighten home keeping tasks, including modern sink, cabinets, range and electric refrigerator.

The first floor plan is an adjustable one, since the library may be used for a first floor bedroom if desired; it has a closet and is accessible to the first floor bath. The first floor bedroom may be used as a maid's room or family bedroom.

The entrance vestibule with closet and hall divides the living room from the other four rooms on the first floor, a convenient arrangement contributing to general quiet and privacy.

The second floor has three bedrooms, each provided with windows on two sides for cross circulation, large closets, and both of the bathrooms have tiled walls. The solid brick walls are well insulated, the floors are of oak and the trim is of birch.

Approximate cost of house, $18,000.

Midlothian Woman's Club

The Midlothian Woman's Club held their regular business meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Moore, there being a large number present. They voted to pay the interest on the mortgage of their Club House, amounting to $87.50, to pay the taxes, $60.70 and the second assessment on the sidewalk, of $77.82.

Miss Gallagher told of the need of repairs and fixing the grounds of the playground, and the club voted to do their share in the work.

June 18th will be the election of officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. A. Berg, Mrs. E. J. Dillion and Mrs. Ed Struke were appointed for the nominating committee. There will be a covered dish luncheon, and a large attendance is expected that day.

Mrs. A. Berg will be hostess for the social meeting at her home May 23rd, and a pleasant surprise awaits all members.

Mrs. B. J. Reiser and Mrs. J. Hickey of Oak Forest are giving a card and bunco party at their home the evening of May 27th to help defray the tax expense. Everyone is urged to come and have a good time.

Mrs. Edgar Mills, president of the club and Mrs. B. J. Reiser, chairman of education, will attend the State Convention of Women's Clubs at Springfield, Ill., May 20th to 23rd.

Forget It, Please.

Forget the slander you have heard,
Forget the hasty, unkind word,
Forget the quarrel and the cause
Forget the whole affair because Forgetting is the only way.
Forget the storms of yesterday
Forget the chap whose sour face
Forgets to smile in any place.
Forget to ever get the blues,
But don't forget to pay your dues!

Police Chief Issues Warning

Chief of Police Alfred A. Terry of Midlothian warns that all loose dogs, without muzzles or dog licenses, will be shot on sight. Autoist driving without their village vehicle license plates will also be picked up, as plenty of time has elapsed to allow everyone to obtain their license.

To Deepen, Widen And Move Ditch. At Midlothian

At a meeting of the Board of Local Improvements, Tuesday night, June 24, was set as the date of a public hearing on the deepening, widening and moving of the Rock Island ditch.

Village engineer Consoer declared that the only improvement possible at the present time would be a "cheap" one, and that the ditch would be necessary even though sanitary sewers were built later. Estimated cost, including laterals to Robertson's and McIntosh subdivisions, is $69,360. Cost of condemnation proceedings will be additional. It is believed the Rock Island will bear one third of the cost.

The village board was given the police report for ten months, showing $827 taken in as fines, 359 arrests made, 5 burglaries, 199 cases dismissed, and a police department expense of $1733.35.

It was stated that the school is being built on a public alley and without a permit—so a committee was appointed to consider vacating the alley. (Note—the school board claims to have a permit for the building where located.)

Complaint was made that both men and women have been seen swimming in Sheed's Pond without swimming suits. The Chief-of-police was instructed to promptly arrest offenders.

The next budget will provide an expenditure of from $40 to $60 monthly for the removal of cans and other refuse from the village.

Mr. Stoltz, of Nagel and Stoltz, asked the village to vacate 148th place, north of their yard. Request was referred to committee on streets and alleys.

It was voted that the board accept a deed to the playground from John R. Robertson which was offered the village in 1927 for $1.00, but never accepted.

The Legion is planning formal dedication on Decoration Day, and Mr. Stoltz is donating any needed sand, stone or cinders that may be needed to fix up the playground.

Goodfellowship Club Elects

At the annual election of officers held at the Goodfellowship Club hall May 7th the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Vice-President, J. E. Rolison
Secretary, P. Klouda
Treasurer, John Vacca

Trustees, John Whippis, Hugo Peter, W. F. Gundlach.

Four new members were voted in to the Club, Harry Hasse, Cleo Kayser, Samuel Hagerman, and George J. Anstett.

Midlothian Legion Notes

Dear Comrades:
As you no doubt have already learned, Midlothian Post is to conduct a membership campaign commencing May 19th. This activity is receiving the enthusiastic support of our membership and of the public generally.

You and I served in the Great War. We have many things in common. As the years roll by, such associations as are offered by membership in The American Legion will become increasingly dear. I do not know why you have not joined our organization. It may be that you have simply neglected to sign up. At any rate I feel that sooner or later you will become a Legionnaire. Why not now?

Midlothian Post is out to do things. Right now we are concentrating on members. Our future activities will be of interest to you and every other ex-service man in Midlothian.

Our next meeting for May will be the 14th and 28th. Won't you come up and join us? We want recognition among the larger Posts in Cook County. If you can't come to the hall on these dates ask any member for an application card. He will be glad to give you one. I understand from an authentic source that the Tinley Park Post is going to try and trim us this year in membership. I don't believe that they can do it, because there are twice as many ex-service men residing in Midlothian as in Tinley Park. Let us prove it to them.

The executive committee of the Legion met last Friday night and outlined a program for 1930 as follows:

June 14—Hard times dance.
July 4—Dedication of flag and flag pole in Midlothian.
August—Cabaret entertainment and dance, with a broadcasting cast.
September—Harvest party.
October—Halloween party.
November—Dance.
December—Xmas tree presentation.

Twenty poppy day workers for Midlothian, Crestwood, Oak Forest, Robbins, Posen and Dixmoor will be announced in the MESSENGER next week.

Bremen Township Health Topics

We are having some kind of a "rash" going around among the children. I do not know just what it is. I have asked some of the doctors and they say they are not sure what it is. Some have diagnosed it as scarlet fever in order to play safe; others have called it toxic-erithemia, a condition due to something the child has eaten that caused a rash. However, the best advice I can give is, if you do not call a doctor, keep the child at home and separate from other children for at least ten days, the period required for measles. If you call a doctor of course you will follow his instructions.

We had our regular Welfare conference Tuesday, May 6th at the McIntosh office and the attendance was very small, no doubt due to the fact that this was the first meeting held for some months and many had forgotten the date. We hope the June Conference will be large enough to make up for it.

Appellate Court Gives Decision In Posen Case

An opinion, delivered by Presiding Justice McSurely and concurred in by Matchett and O'Connon of the Appellate court was handed down recently in the case of Otto Ziebell and others vs. the village of Posen in annexation proceedings.

They held that the case had properly been filed in a court of equity and that the record justified the issuance of a permanent injunction against the village.

The opinion traces the history of the litigation, starting on October 3, 1927, when 44 voters in the territory which Posen attempted to annex filed a bill asking a temporary injunction. The injunction was issued and later made permanent.

The village appealed maintaining that a court of equity had no jurisdiction.

The court was of the opinion that the signers of the petition for incorporation did not constitute a majority, that notices of election had not been posted for the legal period, the land was used for agriculture and therefore the written consent of the owners should have been obtained, that the village officers had not produced the records when demand was made on them, that plats had been filed contrary to the writs of injunction, and that other steps required by law were not taken.

School Board of Dist 143 Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the school board of Dist. 143 was held Monday night. No official business was transacted.

In school district 129, $1.77; No. 141, $1.67; No. 142, $2.54; outside village, in No. 143, $3.71; No. 145, (Oak Forest) $2.87; No. 146, (outside Tinley Park) $2.21; No. 153 (in Homewood) $3.86; (outside of Homewood) $3.13; No. 160, $1.69; No. 161, $2.03.

MIDLOTHIAN FIRE DEPT. NEWS

WHERE IS OUR FIRE TRUCK?
Many are asking this question so we will try to answer it.

We have been assured by the Prospect Fire Engine Co. that our truck is finished. Is in the paint shop and should be on the way to us in a very short time.

If you have not contributed to the purchase of this truck, it is not too late to do so. You may leave your contribution with Mr. Cumming at the Rock Island Depot.

The boys have made every effort to call at every home, but as they themselves must work for their living and because many have not been at home when calls were made some may have been missed, but if you have the right spirit you will not wait to be called upon, you will do your bit voluntarily. The list of names posted in the station is supposed to include all who have contributed in any way to make this purchase possible, and if you have subscribed and your name omitted, please notify Chief Floyd McEwan or R. Cumming so that list may be corrected. Any person who wishes to ascertain if he is credited for full amount may see his entry in cash book upon request at ticket window.

Surely when the citizens, stop to realize the efforts put forth by the firemen, to raise this fund of $1500 at this time, and of those who canvassed for funds for our first truck they will think twice before they criticize their motives.

These Volunteer Firemen are ready for your call night and day, they leave their warm beds, or the hot dinner on the table, and no matter what the weather, respond to that call, and to what reward?

Mostly criticism and abuse; usually from those, who, "if they hear the alarm", only pull the bed clothing tighter, and go back to sleep.

Do you know that, if any of these are killed or injured, their life insurance policies in most cases are void, because of their entering a burning building

Do you know that nearly every fire call responded to usually means the ruin of one or more suits of clothes, for which no one is reimbursed?

Do you know that these boys gather together at least two evenings every month, and conduct the business of their company and discuss ways and means of making more efficient firemen for you?

Do you know that they have joined the Community Firemen's Association, of Southern Cook County includes 26 villages and cities, and that in case of a serious fire in our community the officers of our department may call on any or all of them for assistance and get it without cost to you

Do you know that, every fourth Monday in every month, as many men as possible travel to one of these cities and attend this Firemen's Community Association meeting, where open discussion is held, as to most efficient means of handling various type of fires? Where life saving, first aid, care of equipment, and many other useful things are taught, and where all important fires occurring within and without the association are discussed?

Do you know that a State Convention is held every year in some City in Illinois where thousands of firemen of the Illinois State Firemen's Association meet, and compete in fire drills, demonstrate apparatus, and hear many wonderful lectures? And that you should see to it that at least two of your firemen can attend these conventions, for YOUR benefit and NOT at THEIR OWN expense?

You do not know how much you might need these same firemen some day or some night, and these firemen need you now and all the time, so do not fail them, and you need not fear that they will fail you.

The Volunteer Firemen extend their heartfelt thanks to each and all who have aided in their drive for funds, and assure them they will have no cause to regret their action.

The Preference for Sixes is Growing Every Day

Back in 1925, less than 40% of all cars produced were sixes. Then year by year this proportion increased until today, as shown above, the public is buying more six-cylinder cars than any other type. And this preference for sixes is growing every day!

Why? The answer is perfectly clear. The six operates with a smoothness that it is impossible to obtain with fewer cylinders—and smoothness is one of the big things that buyers have learned to demand in motor car performance.

Six-cylinder smoothness means enjoyable motoring. It means no vibration in the steering wheel—no rattling in the floor boards—no disturbing body rumble or "drumming." Six-cylinder smoothness means longer car life and higher resale value—because it saves the chassis and body from the harmful effect of continuous vibration.

When you buy a low-priced car—buy a Chevrolet Six and get the modern performance you have a right to expect.

The Chevrolet Six costs little to buy—just a few dollars more than the cheapest car. The down payment is low—the terms are easy. And it costs no more to operate for gas, oil and upkeep!

And think of the other quality features you get! A big, roomy Body by Fisher with low, smart, graceful lines, genuine Duco finish, adjustable driver's seat, non-glare windshield and hardwood-and-steel construction. A deep, rugged frame that supports the body throughout its entire length. Four semi-elliptic springs mounted in the direction of car travel and controlled by four Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers. A safety gasoline tank located in the rear outside the body. A banjo-type rear axle that need not be taken apart in order to clean or inspect it. Big, non-locking, internal four-wheel brakes—and many other features that indicate up-to-date design and quality construction.

When you buy a low-priced car, buy a modern car with modern features—buy a Chevrolet Six. Come in—get a demonstration—and bring in your present car for our appraisal!

MOKENA

A water pipe leading from the water main to the Julius Grothen-dick residence sprung a leak Thurs-day night and the water worked up thru the ground to the surface. When the pipe was dug up a large hole was found rusted thru it.

Mokena has quite a number of pretty floral spots. The pretty flower garden on the Tooley estate is the center of attraction. Over 1000 tulips are in bloom and they pre-sent a gorgeous display of floral beauty. In addition there are my-riads of other flowers which trans-forms the garden into a veritable floral bower. This beauty spot in the village has created much inter-est among flower lovers.

The Herman Schweser yard also is a pretty sight to behold. The many flowers, white pergolas and heart shaped flower beds surely add a pretty touch to the well kept lawn and grounds. This is also one of the beauty spots in the town. There are other spots about which more will be said later.

Charles Olson, section foreman on the Rock Island who has been a resident of Mokena for many years is moving to New Lenox this week. He has listed his property for sale. The Lutheran, St. John's Evan-gelical and the M. E. churches held services commemorative of Mother's Day at their services morning and evening Sunday.

George Walsh is quite a trick performer on the motorcycle. He performs various stunts while run-ning his motorcycle at a good rate of speed thru town.

The various village streets have been graded and the chuck holes filled in the past week. Later a coat of road oil will be applied.

Work on the subway on Route 51 east of here is nearing the fin-ish. The concrete walls have been poured and as soon as they are set the work of installing the steel bridge girders and support will be next in order, following which the rest of the paving on 51 will be laid under this subway.

OAK FOREST

Johanna Munkelnbeck of Oak Forest and John Yost of Blue Is-land, were united in marriage at St. Christopher's church, Midlo-thian, at 11 a.m. last Saturday. During High Mass, Mrs. Elizabeth Buer sang a solo, "Ave Maria". Brides maids were Edith Tutas, Elsie Petri, Erna Petri, Josephine Seidenstick. Best men were William Munkelnbeck, Conrad Benzig and William Ludwig.

Wedding breakfast was served at the Petri home in Blue Island. At 8 p.m. dinner was served at Henry Buer's place in Oak Forest to 97 guests. A reception, dancing, the stealing of the bride, and a chivari occupied the entire night.

Fifteen letters and telegrams came from Germany to wish the young couple well. The couple will make their future home in Blue Is-land, where Mr. Yost works as a mechanic.

Among Our Local Industries

MIDLOTHIAN DAIRY

Starting in business in 1926, bot-tling 20 quarts of milk, the Midlo-thian Dairy has grown to the point where 1400 bottles are filled in one day, keeping four trucks busy and serving the communities of Midlothian, Blue Island, Tinley Park, Oak Forest, Markham and Crestwood. The business is owned by Thomas G. Moore and his son, James C. Moore; the plant is located at 149th street near Cicero avenue.

Tinley Park furnishes the milk, all of which comes from tuberculin tested herds. Within an hour from the time the milk leaves the farm-ers cooling vats it is delivered here.

Although one may think the pro-cess of bottling milk consists mere-ly of pouring milk into bottles, it is really a process involving several steps. The raw milk is poured into a pre-heater; at 90 degrees it is warm enough to flow thru the filter, which strains out any foreign mat-ter. From the filter it is piped into a pasteurizer, where a temperature of 145 degrees is maintained for 30 minutes. Now the milk must be rap-idly chilled to kill any germs.

Chilling is accomplished by a slow pouring of the milk over a system of ice-cold tubes. Then the milk is run into a bottling machine, which automatically fills the bottle and caps it while water sprays cool and keeps the bottles clean while filling takes place.

When the trays of bottles are full they are wheeled into a refriger-ator room, where the temperature is slightly above freezing. Here the milk stays until it goes out to the delivery trucks.

The refrigerating unit consists of an electrically driven ammonia compressor which reduces the am-monia to a gas and then liquifies it. In the process, cold is produced. Coils running through brine tanks keep the storage room cool.

After the milk has been run through the bottling plant all pipes connections and machine parts are sterilized with live steam. Every-thing must be kept spotless.

When raw milk is received at the plant, any cans that are off-flavor sour or have too high a tempera-ture are condemned and rejected.

It is by these processes that the health of the community is guarded for carelessly handled it could cause any number of diseases.

L. C. STEPHENS, Dist. Mgr. Joliet, Ill. Phone 1250

Responding to a summons from Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, the Fifty-sixth general assembly met in extraordinary session, Monday, May 12, to consider legislation on six subjects. Heading the list of matters to have attention is revision of the state's taxation system. The legislators will be asked to submit an amendment to the revenue article of the constitution at the November election. The general plan of tax revision recommended by Governor Emmerson is to lift the present undue burden of taxation now resting on real estate and tangible property and distribute it so that intangible property, now largely escaping taxation, will bear its just share. Other subjects to come before the special session are the consideration of laws for the relief of Cook county taxing bodies, to strengthen the powers of the state tax commission, to revise the law for the purchase of an artillery range near Camp Grant, to transfer funds from the sale of machinery to be used for bridges over the Illinois waterway and to make an appropriation for interest on state bonds.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has voiced unqualified approval of the efforts of the publicity committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with 27 newspaper editors in 25 sections of the state, toward the development of Illinois as a center of attraction for tourists, sportsmen and those interested in the historical lore of the state. "We can attract thousands of people to Illinois to see these landmarks of history," said Governor Emmerson. "We can give them sports, recreation, motoring on the finest paved road system in the world. We can show them scenery unsurpassed for genuine beauty in the United States. The state chamber's plan to collect this data receives the warm support and approbation of myself and the state departments. It is a worthwhile measure and one that should have begun long ago."

The appointment of R. E. Duval of Belleville as assistant director of the state department of conservation to succeed Frank E. Abbey of Biggsville, resigned, headed a list of 11 appointments recently announced by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. Three new assistant Illinois commerce commissioners appointed were: Harry L. Boyer of Urbana, Max Przyborski of North Chicago, and Dan McGlynn, Jr., of East St. Louis. In the department of agriculture, Warren Rufus Smith and William J. Stange, both of Chicago, were named food standard officers to succeed Dr. Thomas J. Bryan and Nathan Loewenstein, respectively, whose terms have expired. Governor Emmerson also appointed a board of building advisors in the department of purchases and construction consisting of John A. Holabird, Oscar W. Rosenthal, L. E. Ritter and Samuel A. Greeley of Chicago and Frank A. Carpenter of Rockford.

Through the efforts of Director H. H. Cleveland of the department of public works and buildings, the Towne rating bureau of New York has agreed to reduce the premium rate on Illinois paving contract bonds from 1 1/2 per cent to 1 per cent. This will save the state between $600,000 and $750,000 in completing the bond issue highway system.

More than 20,000 women from all parts of Illinois will make Springfield their mecca during the week of May 19, when the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in that city. This estimate was made recently by Mrs. Porter Paddock, president of the Springfield club, which will act as host to the visitors.

The name of Illinois Woman's college founded at Jacksonville nearly 100 years ago, will be changed to MacMurray College for Women, according to an announcement by President C. P. McClelland of the college at the exercises in dedication of Jane A. Areson residence hall and dining room, the gifts of Mr. and Mrs. James E. MacMurray of Chicago, who over a period of 15 years have made gifts totaling almost a million dollars. Mr. MacMurray is president of the board of trustees.

Richey D. Graham, prominent member of the house of representatives, has been nominated on the Democratic ticket for senator from the Nineteenth senatorial district. He defeated Senator John Denver, who has served the district for the past 20 years. Mr. Graham has been admitted to the bar in the state of Illinois and has opened an office for the practice of law.

Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, in a recently issued statement appealed to the farmers to actively co-operate with the Buy-Illinois-Products commission in the campaign it is conducting to stimulate general business by urging the buying public to patronize every class of home industry. "Farmers will readily recognize that to the extent they support home industry, they thereby provide labor for more people within the state and broaden the local outlet for farm products," Mr. Smith said.

Elimination of fire hazards in Illinois' institutional buildings disclosed by a survey ordered by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson soon after his inauguration is going forward as rapidly as possible with the funds that now are available. Director Rodney H. Brandon of the department of public welfare has announced. To enable the department to complete its fire prevention program, an appeal will be made to the next session of the general assembly for a special appropriation. Both A. L. Bowen, superintendent of charities, and Col. Frank D. Whipp, superintendent of prisons, recently again issued instructions for the head of the institutions to hold regular fire drills, and have warned the superintendents that failure to obey the order will occasion summary action by the department.

Illinois coal if used with appropriate equipment for its consumption will provide a minimum saving of 50 to 75 cents per ton as compared with any eastern coal. Dr. F. C. Honnold, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois coal bureau, said at the quarter-centennial celebration of the Illinois state geological survey.

License fees collected from automobile truck owners will be between $500,000 and $800,000 higher this year than in 1929 because of an amendment to the motor vehicle act placing a letter on the plates indicating the class according to weight to which the truck belongs. Secretary of State William J. Stratton predicts. Formerly many owners of large trucks bought licenses for smaller vehicles. Now investigators and state highway police can tell at a glance whether or not a truck has a license "heavy" enough for it. About 8,000 trucks that should have had licenses for a heavier class have been ordered to return their plates and obtain others.

Eighty-six counties have arranged for a total of 193 farmers' institutes covering a period of 270 days starting next September and ending in March, according to an announcement by H. O. Allison, secretary of the Illinois Farmers' institute. The household science department, under Mrs. Anita Shamel, has arranged for programs at 187 towns.

Illinois college has been appropriated $10,000 by the board of trustees of the Carnegie corporation, according to a letter received by Acting President Ames of the college. President Rammelkamp is at present traveling in Europe. The Carnegie gift will be applied to increasing the usefulness of the new library.

The United States senate recently passed the bill introduced by Senator Otis Glenn, to change the name of Iowa Circle in Washington, D. C., to Logan Circle, in honor of the Illinois general whose statue stands in the center of the circle. Circles in Washington, at the intersection of three or more streets, usually bear the names of states in their centers. It was to correct this exception that Senator Glenn's bill was introduced.

A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician for the state and federal departments of agriculture, is serving as a member of the United States crop reporting board in Washington. The board will review all crop data for the various states and will make the 1930 acreage estimates of winter wheat remaining for harvest, and will also report on the condition of wheat as of May 1.

Illinois ranks third in the number of licensed and identified planes in the United States with a total of 697 planes, 697 accredited pilots and 76 airports. This statement is based on figures just compiled by the air travel division of the American Automobile association with the aid of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce.

Lincoln's home in Springfield is to be repapered with wallpaper duplicating the original, which was put on prior to the Civil war. About a year ago the state department of public works and buildings took up the task of matching the original wallpaper and Director Harry H. Cleveland is now in receipt of a number of rolls of the duplicate.

Revised and stricter regulations applying to handling and dispensing of gasoline, bulk and retail storage, filling stations, garages, dry cleaning plants, alcohol storage, fuel oil and fuel oil burners and the use of gasoline and volatile oils in general, aiming at decreasing the life hazard incident to handling these products have been announced through State Fire Marshal S. L. Legried, by Leo Lowe, director of trade and commerce.

Ex-Gov. Edward F. Dunne, of Chicago, is writing a History of Illinois for the Lewis Publishing company of Chicago. Governor Dunne has reported that the history will be completed within the next six months.

Fees collected by the secretary of state's office in the first four months 1930 exceeded the collections for the same period of 1929 by $1,616,163.77, according to Secretary of State William J. Stratton. The 1930 collections to May 1 were $16,699,437.81 as compared with $15,083,274.00 for the same period in 1929. Passenger car licenses sold to date this year total 1,241,217 as compared with 1,170,033 in the first four months of last year, an increase of 71,184. Trucks increased 7,834.

TRIMMING BECOMES IMPORTANT; PASTEL COLORS MUCH IN VOGUE

WHAT a lure fabric displays are proving to the home sewing woman this season! Never were materials so fascinating, so infinite in weave and color, and that which is the strongest argument in their favor—so amazingly inexpensive.

Then, too, the styles have changed so utterly, which also incites a new interest. The fact that the slenderizing princess lines are so adaptable to the fashioning of simple daytime frocks should prove highly inspiring

Not only fluffy ruffle creations like the model in lower picture flaunt pastel colorings, but the vogue for simple tailored frocks in "baby blue" or haze pink, or pale yellow is outstanding in the sports realm.

The very feminine and much belauded dress in the picture with its cunning bolero and its flowing sleeves, is typical of the latest afternoon dress movement. As to color, the flat crepe of which this frock is made is mint green, although it may just as well to the home dressmaker who is casting about for "how to make" suggestions. One can readily see from the frock in the picture how very charming is the princess silhouette even when handled in the simplest manner. There is nothing complicated or beyond the ability of the average home dressmaker in the making of this model.

Choose wash silk, or rayon weave, dotted swiss, or what you will, this dress will prove winsome developed in almost any fabric. An endless amount of piping is being done on the new frocks, no doubt because it provides such charming color contrast. Likewise achieves a perfect finish along all edges. The piped scallops on this frock are accented by handsome pearl buttons, for buttons are conspicuous on the trimming list this season. A red and white dotted swiss made up after this fashion would be wondrously attractive.

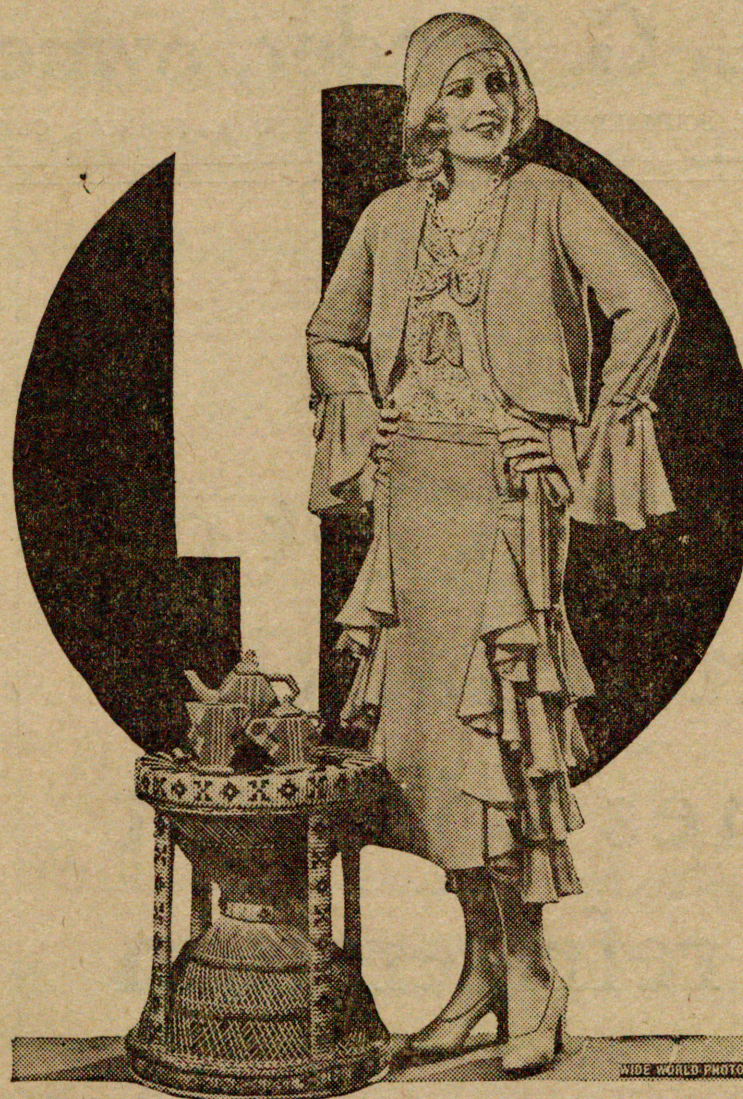

Washable silk pique also makes up beautifully and at the same time it is be reproduced in any other of the new pastels—perhaps pale gray, for gray is coming "in."

Boleros? Millions of them enter into the scheme of dress design this season. They vary greatly for stylists are playing them in every key. Many of the new cloth or silk suits flaunt a bolero instead of a regulation short jacket. Worn over a lace blouse, as is seen in the picture, is to assure a delightfully feminine combination.

Yes, the lace blouse here shown is a tick-in. The majority of the new blouses are just that. As to the materials of which they are made, they run the gamut from dotted swiss to gay print silk, including shantung in any and every color, organdie, striped silk shirting, polka dot effects, finest of handkerchief linen in pastel colorings—and still the half has not yet been told.

Therefore it becomes evident that women of fashion are expected to own "oodles" of blouses both fancy and ever so practical. Oh yes, and there's dainty all-wool caullis, than which there is no more fashionable weave for the simple frock. Printed flat crepes score in the rayon field. Why not copy this frock in gay print? and should you so do, be sure to add a detachable little cape of self-fabric.

tailored this season. There is no such thing as having too many. In fact, the blouse has such a transforming effect on the costume, that women are relying on it to tune the ensemble to the occasion.

Many a blouse is made with short puff sleeves. Also the blouse with a wide pleated or cape collar which can be worn over the coat is very popular.

De Rivera's Hoodoo

The late Primo de Rivera had to lose. Any Spanish gypsy could have told him so right off. His name was composed of 13 letters, the kingdom he set out to save was that of Alfonso Thirteenth and he began his task on a thirteenth day of September. Therefore Primo's fall before his recent death came when he had been 76 months at the helm—7 plus 6 are 13; or, if you will, after 6 years, 4 months and 13 days. Or, again, after 2326 days—2 plus 3 plus 2 plus 6 are 13. Of the year 1930—1 plus 9 plus 3 plus 0 are 13.

Primo appointed 13 ministers. Put it as you will, Primo was doomed. His day would come according to his horoscope, said the superstitious Andalusians, Primo's countrymen, who cross their fingers hastily at the sight of a one-eyed man or a lizard and invoke Saint Maria to protect them.

Strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I used to be as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. I had fainting spells and palpitation. Of course it was my age. I read a Lydia E. Pinkham booklet and started taking the Vegetable Compound three times a day. I am now a well woman. Three of my neighbors know what it did for me so they are taking it too. I will write to any woman if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her as it did me. I feel like a young woman now and I thank you."

A Pilgrimage of Gold Star Mothers

Gold Star Mothers at Tomb of Unknown Soldier

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

MEMORIAL day this year will be unique in the history of that day. Here in America it will be observed in the manner familiar to all of us. But over across the Atlantic groups of American women will visit the places where "stand the crosses, row on row" and there pay reverent tribute to America's soldier dead who sleep in foreign soil. But this tribute will not be just a formal gesture by a group. To each one of these women it will be an intimate, personal act of devotion. For these women are America's Gold Star Mothers, and with loving hands they will lay flowers upon the graves of their sons.

So Memorial day this year will be unique because of the pilgrimage of Gold Star Mothers which has been arranged by the United States government. The idea of this pilgrimage dates from March 2, 1929, when congress passed a bill authorizing an appropriation of more than $5,000,000 to cover the expense of taking the mothers and wives of the service men, who met their death in the World war, as the guests of the government for a visit to the place where their soldier dead are buried. The War department was then directed to make the necessary preparations for the visits and invitations were sent out to 11,630 of these women. Of that number 5,640 have accepted and they will be taken at various times this summer. The remaining 5,990 have been listed and may make the trip at convenient times between now and October, 1933.

The trip will be under the direction of the War department with the quartermaster corps in direct charge, and every detail will be handled by army officers. The quartermaster corps has developed the American cemeteries in Europe and is responsible for their administration. The graves of service men buried abroad are in its charge. It is giving infinite care to the choice of the officers who are to be responsible for all the Gold Star Mothers who cross the seas, and its one idea is that the women who go on this journey shall have everything to make them comfortable and happy.

It is an immense project, this taking 5,000 women to a foreign country. Most of the women are between sixty and sixty-five years old, one is eighty-eight, some of them are in ill health and only their desire to see the last resting place of their beloved dead spurs them to cross the sea and to adventure in foreign lands among people who are strangers.

The War department has tried to think of every possible contingency and provide for it. All the experience in planning military expeditions, from food to passage, has been used to work out arrangements to the smallest detail, and leeway is provided for those unexpected contingencies which they know always arise. The difficult feature about this pilgrimage is that it is unique. There has never been anything like it, so the War department has no experience to build its plans on. It must estimate on vision and imagination to cover all possibilities.

They have figured on $840 per person for each of the women who go—and incidentally no woman who has already visited the grave of her son or husband may go on this pilgrimage. Its purpose is to take those women who cannot go otherwise than as guests of the government.

Besides the actual expense of transportation and care of the mothers, which adds up to this $840 apiece, there will be the salaries of an office force in New York and Paris. The mothers will be looked after by army officers from the moment they arrive in New York until they are put on board the train in New York again after they return from Europe.

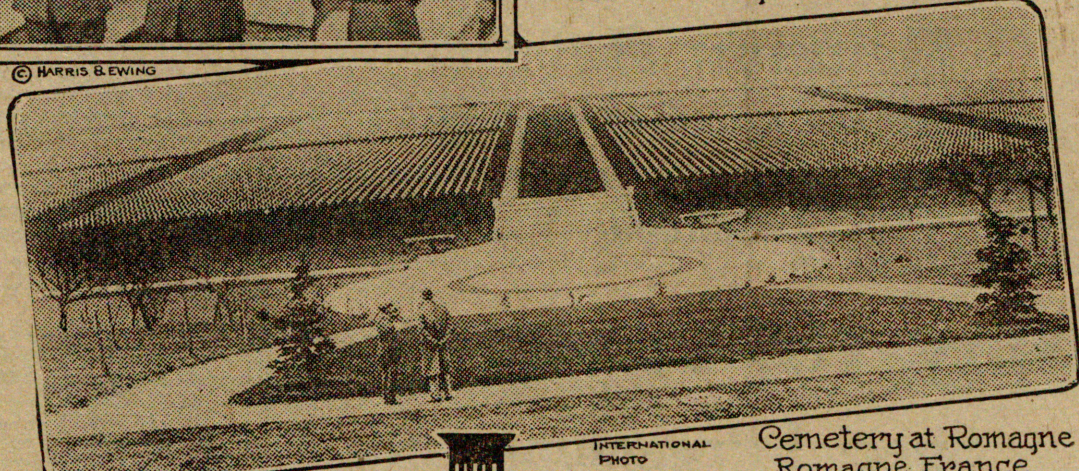

Every mother who is to go has received an engraved card inviting her, in the name of the United States government, to go on the pilgrimage. So far only those have been asked who have actual graves to visit. Legislation is pending which would permit those to go whose sons or husbands were buried at sea or are among the missing abroad.

The women will go to New York, whence all sailings will be made, arriving the day before sailing. They will go in groups of 300, sailing once a week from May to October. Their fare will be paid from their homes to New York, but they must come to New York without chaperonage from the government. The War department has made the most careful arrangements with the various railroads, however, to see that the women get their tickets and the railroads are doing their bit by promising every aid, even to delivering tickets personally to mothers who live in the country.

Each mother will have a badge of red, white and blue ribbon, with her name on a metal bar, her number on the back—for each woman will have a number on file in the War department—and this badge will entitle her to special care on her way to New York. Every railroad employe,

Memorial Chapel at Suresnes

Cemetery at Romagne, France

Memorial Chapel at Thiencourt

from conductor to switchman, will be instructed to look after any woman wearing that badge, with the Gold Star and the Great Seal of the United States on it.

The pilgrims will be met in New York by army officers, mostly captains and lieutenants who have been detailed to stay with the groups. The pilgrims will be housed in first-class hotels. Nine dollars and fifty cents a day is allowed per person in New York. They will stay in New York overnight and the Gold Star Mothers organization will entertain each group the day after they arrive and before they embark. They will sail on American ships and go first class. Everything will be paid for them, from stewards to steamer rugs.

Arrived in Cherbourg the mothers will be met by officers who will conduct them to Paris, where they will stay two days. The groups on the ships will be arranged by states and by cemeteries. As they arrive they will be broken up into units of 25, each forming a busload. From then on each unit will be in charge of an officer who will stay with them until they re-embark.

The War mothers of France are preparing a warm welcome for them. General Gouraud, commanding the military district of Paris, will put himself at their disposal. There will be visits by groups to the grave of the Unknown Soldier and to the Suresnes cemetery, "the Arlington of France," which is on the edge of Paris, a place of surpassing beauty. Priests, rabbis and Protestant ministers will be available. American nurses will attend them and the doors of the American hospital will swing open to any who need treatment.

Not only will it be an immense project to take these mothers to Europe, but it was an almost equally stupendous task to search out the mothers of the 30,000 American soldiers who are buried in France, Belgium and England—mostly in France. There had been no occasion for locating these mothers until the present legislation was passed. The quartermaster corps started with the name of the next of kin which was given by each man when he went into the army. It wrote 30,000 letters to the addresses given. Out of every 400 sent, forty came back unclaimed. Those who had been set down as next of kin had died, or moved away, or otherwise disappeared during the twelve or thirteen years that had passed since they were last heard from.

But 60 per cent of the next-of-kin letters brought answers. Of mothers of those who had died abroad, less than half were still alive. Of wives of those who had died abroad there were many who had married again and so became ineligible for the trip. The number of widows who will make the trip is small.

The mothers who responded to letters having been located the quartermaster corps went further in its search for the relatives of those whose next of kin did not respond. It operated through the veterans' bureau. Because of insurance and compensation, that agency has been in touch with most of them. Yet there has been found only one mother or widow to about three men buried abroad—11,630 out of 30,792.

The ships, their days of sailing, and the number of war mothers each will carry are as follows: America, May 7, 300; Republic, May 13, 202; Harding, May 14, 150; Washington, May 21, 300; Roosevelt, May 28, 150; America, June 4, 300; Harding, June 14, 300; Roosevelt, June 21, 300; Republic, June 25, 350; America, July 2, 300; Harding, July 9, 300; Washington, July 23, 300; Republic, July 26, 300; America, July 30, 200; Roosevelt, August 9, 200; Washington, August 19, 400; America, August 27, 300; Republic, August 30, 620.

Many knotty problems have been met at every stage of the arrangements. With more than 5,000 to go, coming from every state in the Union, there was the question of where to begin. It was thought that it would be a happy arrangement if the mothers from given localities could go together. Most would be likely to have friends or acquaintances from the start. They would at least feel more at home surrounded by other women from their own state. But what should be the order of their going from the different states?

In the end the matter was left to chance. The names of the states were put in a basket and drawn out one at a time. The women from the first state that came out of the basket went first, and so on. Mrs. Herbert Hoover drew the names and the ceremony took place at the White House late last year.

Here is a list, in the order in which they came out of the basket and the number of women from each state who will go over this summer: Nebraska, 59; Florida, 37; Delaware, 5; Kentucky, 56; Ohio, 282; Arkansas, 47; Iowa, 131; Montana, 39; Porto Rico, 1; Oklahoma, 88; South Dakota, 31; Washington, 127; California, 369; Rhode Island, 40; District of Columbia, 20; North Dakota, 59; Michigan, 215; Wisconsin, 177; Maryland, 49; New York, 742; Massachusetts, 318; Hawaii, 1; Nevada, 4; Wyoming, 13; Virginia, 69; New Mexico, 2; Oregon, 90; Mississippi, 36; Illinois, 259; Idaho, 25; Minnesota, 162; Texas, 135; North Carolina, 225; Utah, 31; New Jersey, 229; Pennsylvania, 497; West Virginia, 43; Georgia, 83; Louisiana, 46; Missouri, 151; Vermont, 20; Tennessee, 71; Kansas, 108; Indiana, 115; Connecticut, 74; Alabama, 65; Arizona, 15; Maine, 38; South Carolina, 40; New Hampshire, 37; Colorado, 64.

There are eight cemeteries in Europe which the Gold Star Mothers will visit. One is in England, one in Belgium, and six are in France. All eight of these cemeteries have been laid out with skill. Gravel and cement walks, which were planned from the standpoint of convenience and art, wind their way through each of them. Marble headstones mark every grave. Trees, flowers and shrubs contribute to the beauty and peaceful atmosphere. At each of the American cemeteries there is a caretaker, a World war veteran, who by reason of his own experience, is able to meet with proper understanding those who come to visit the graves. Each cemetery has its chapel and in nearly all the hostess houses have been completed.

The Meuse-Argonne cemetery at Romagne, near Verdun, which is the largest of all the American cemeteries in Europe and wherein 14,167 American soldier dead are buried, is approximately 150 miles by bus from Paris. A hostess house is maintained in this cemetery for the convenience of those visitors who desire to stay overnight, or to remain several days.

In the St. Mihiel cemetery 4,148 soldier dead lie buried. It is located near the small town of Thiencourt, whose population is about 1,200, in the department of the Aisne. St. Mihiel is approximately 70 miles from Paris, 25 miles from Metz and 30 miles from Nancy.

The Oise-Aisne cemetery, where 5,993 American soldier dead are buried, is in the department of the Aisne, approximately 65 miles from Paris. The Aisne-Marne cemetery, where 2,268 service men are buried, is located near the village of Belleu, department of the Aisne, about 6 miles from Chateau-Thierry and approximately 60 miles from Paris.

The Flanders field cemetery, in Belgium, where 368 American soldier dead are buried, is about 25 miles from Lille.

The Brookwood cemetery, where 437 of our soldier dead lie buried, is at Brookwood, Surrey, England, only about 28 miles from London.

Each of these cemeteries has been so developed that it has become an area of great beauty, and is so cared for as to constitute a continuing proof of the country's appreciation of the services of those who lie buried there.

JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE

(Temperance Lesson.)

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 22:1-22, 34-40.

* GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. The second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself (22:37-39).

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Teaching in the Temple.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus in the Temple.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Become a Good Citizen.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Who Is a Good Citizen?

In the previous parable, the responsibilities of the subjects of the kingdom were set before us in the light of the obligation to render to the householder the fruits of his vineyard. In this one the emphasis is placed upon the privileges and blessings of the king. Christ's kingdom is infinitely more than a system of laws and regulations to be obeyed.

I. The Marriage Feast (vv. 1-14).

The benefits of the kingdom are set forth under the figure of marriage. The highest ideal of love and friendship known to the world is expressed in marriage.

1. The king's invitation despised (vv. 1-7).

The previous parable showed the attitude of the Jewish people toward the king up to the crucifixion. This one carries us beyond the cross, even to the present age of the Gentiles. The marriage feast which the king made for his son and to which he invited guests, represents the gracious offer of God to give joy and blessing to His creatures. This feast has been made in honor of his son, and is an exceeding rich one. The repeated invitations show God's earnestness in seeking to bless men. They not only neglected it, but made light of it and hurried on to their worldly business, showing their disregard for the salvation of their souls. Some did violence to the messengers of the king, even killing them. Primarily, this is a picture of the attitude of the Jews from Christ's crucifixion to the destruction of Jerusalem, but it has its counterpart in the present day.

2. The king's invitation accepted (vv. 8-10).

When those first invited refused, the king sent his servants to others, for his table must be provided with guests. The Lord's table has been prepared at infinite cost.

3. The king inspecting the guests (vv. 11-14).

As a result of this inspection, one was found without a wedding garment. Failure, therefore, to conform to the regulation of the feast was an insult to the king. The wedding garment provided for each one invited to the Lord's table is the righteousness of Christ.

II. The Wonderful Wisdom of the King (vv. 15-22, 34-40).

That which called forth this wisdom was the effort of the leaders to entrap Jesus.

1. The tribute money (vv. 15-22).

The Herodians sought to test His loyalty to the Roman government; therefore, they came to him with the subtle question, "Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?" For Christ to have answered "Yes" would have conveyed the impression of endorsement of the Roman government, and "No" would have brought him into conflict with the government. Christ's reply to this question is the final word on the Christian's relationship to civil government.

2. Concerning the resurrection (vv. 23-33).

The Sadducees did not believe in the resurrection. To entrap Him they placed before Him a hypothetical case of a woman who had had seven husbands—as to whose wife she would be in the resurrection. The Scriptures make it clear that marriage is only for this life; that in the resurrection human beings will be as angels of God.

3. The great commandment in the law (vv. 34-40).

(1) The first commandment (vv. 34-38). "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart." Supreme and undivided love to God is the first and great commandment. (2) The second commandment (vv. 39, 40). This is like the first, in that it centers in love. The measure of love to my neighbor is my self-love.

4. The question put by Christ (vv. 41-46).

The mystery of Christ being the son of David and at the same time being David's Lord put to silence all those who had sought to embarrass Him.

Our Prayers

Our prayers are ships. We send them to no uncertain port. They are destined for the throne of grace; and while they take a cargo of supplications from us, they come back arcos laden with the riches of divine grace.—Presbyterian of the South.

Our Supreme Duty

Our supreme duty is to give ourselves to Christ, and with ourselves all that we possess.—Bishop E. E. Hoos.

Youth Found in Lead in the Open Country

A study of where folks live and what they do in rural counties is given in a new bulletin on the rural population of Tompkins and Schuyler counties, New York, by Prof. Bruce L. Melvin of Cornell university.

Youth is found in the open country, he says, and age in the villages; this age difference and the natural preferences of different ages bring a problem that must be met in the community organization and in unification, Professor Melvin points out.

Industrial influences on districts surrounding cities change the classification more than is generally apparent. Ithaca township, surrounding Ithaca city, has nearly 60 per cent of its residents in the non-farming group. That township has about 54 people for each square mile; Cayuta township, in Schuyler county, the other extreme, has not quite 13 people for each square mile.

Families are largest in the industrial village and smallest in the incorporated rural villages. The industrial villages have most men in the productive ages of from 15 to 49 years.

The Alaskan Flag

Alaska has recently adopted an official flag. It has a blue field, bordered on three sides with a narrow band of gold. In the upper right-hand corner appears Polaris and below it the constellation Ursa Major, with its two "pointers" indicating the North star. The field of blue is held to symbolize the evening sky, the sea, mountain lakes and the wild flowers of Alaska; and the gold border, the wealth in Alaskan hills and streams. Polaris is the ever-constant guide of the explorer, woodsman, prospector and surveyor. And Alaskans hope that the northernmost star may some day take its place as the forty-ninth in our national emblem.

Earthquake's Vagaries

An earthquake irrigated a cantaloupe field at Brawley, Calif., recently when a tremor caused small geysers to spout five inches high over the 160-acre field owned by the S. A. Gerrard company. The water irrigated the entire field and then flooded adjacent areas before subsiding. Small sand piles were left in the wake of unusual inundation, and a beet field nearby was completely covered by new sand.

TINLEY PARK GARDEN CLUB

FLOWER ARRANGEMENT
It involves a study both of color and of form. It is best to start at the bottom, the receptacle into which the flowers are to be placed. This is a very important feature and one that may make or mar the beauty of the bouquet.

In the first place the color of the vase or bowl is important. The most effective coloring will be solid, not a receptacle of intricate pattern of pronounced coloring. The color of the receptacle will be neutral for best effects or one that will harmonize with the flowers used. The most serviceable for all around purposes are black, white, green or gray. Lead-colored tones are effective and in metal containers pewter bowls and vases are handsome.

The brighter the color of the bowl the more difficult the task of obtaining harmonious effects in the bouquet. The color should be in the flowers, not in the container.

Next to color, the form of the container is important. The lines should be graceful, but not too pronounced. Receptacles with sharp corners or angles are more difficult to handle than those of circular or oval contour with curves instead of straight lines.

If the vase is to be a tall one there should be a wide enough mouth to permit the introduction of the flower stems without the appearance of crowding them and it should flare sufficiently to give a symmetrical balance with the lower portion.
